- 4:00-5:30 p.m.: HWR Berlin Master's programmes - Information for international students

Would you like to find out how companies gain a competitive edge by consistently focusing on customer centricity? If so, study marketing. Longterm success needs a convincing marketing strategy.

This consecutive Master's degree programme is based on a broad-based Economic training with a practice-led approach to Marketing Management. The course places a particular focus on the increasing digitalization of marketing and the significance of Brand Management. Further foci include the development and application of advanced market research skills.

Students of this course learn how to plan, manage and implement marketing measures. It assumes a Bachelor's (or Diplom) level understanding of the issues involved and proceeds systematically to build on them. The interactive teaching modules through which the course is taught create room for the independent development of creative solutions and presentational skills requisite to a career in marketing management. Half of the modules are taught in English.

Professional field

Graduates of this programme are qualified to perform cross-sector specialist and management tasks in international companies and other institutions. The degree also provides access to the higher levels of German public administration

Degree structure

The degree programme consists of a foundation course taught in the first semester and a specialist stage in the second semester. Teaching will focus on working with case studies to practice the application of theoretical knowledge in a practical setting. The third semester is intended for the Master's thesis and the final examination, unless an internship or a semester abroad is completed. In this case, the study programme is extended from three to four semesters.

Internship semester

Students who acquired less than 210 European Credit Transfer System [ECTS] points in their Bachelor course must obtain the missing credit points for example by way of an integrated period of practical training, for which 30 ECTS points are awarded. This internship semester is scheduled in the third semester, after the theoretical phase and before the completion of studies. The master programme will thus last four semesters.

The content of the internship has to relate to the focus of your master studies. After enrollment you can place a request for accreditation of previous work experience or internships.

Alternatively, the missing 30 ECTS may be gained through studies abroad during your third semester. More information will be given after the start of studies upon request.

You will not have to acquire extra ECTS if your Bachelor programme was not accredited according to the ECTS point system. This generally holds true for non-EU-study programmes.

Students who have already gained 210 ECTS points in their Bachelor and completed an internship may do an additional voluntary internship in their third semester.
