Degree programme

Rechtspfleger work in a court or prosecuting context to take independent legal decisions. Their decisions are subject only to the demands of the Law. They perform a range of tasks defined by the government such as foreclosure and sequestration proceedings, land registry tasks, enforcement proceedings and the assessment of costs.

The preparatory service for a career in the Senior Justice Service equips its personnel with an understanding of the legal, social and political contexts in which they will work and confers all the requisite knowledge and experience to take independent decisions. The degree qualification Diplom-Rechtspfleger/in (FH) is awarded following the completion of a pass in the final thesis.

Study as a paid civil servant, the optimal combination of theory and practice and the excellent career prospects for which graduates can aspire to, makes the degree course one of the most popular in Germany.

Professional field

The wide range of responsibilities which the career Rechtspfleger/in brings (involving fields such as Composition, Insolvency, Guardianship and Enforcement) makes it a highly interesting and diverse occupation

Degree structure

The degree programme is structured in four parts. Part One (Theory) is studied in fourteen months; this is followed by a ten-month practical phase. Parts Three and Four are themselves followed by a further six-month theoretical and practical phase. Admission to the degree programme confers the status of temporary Civil Servant and candidate Rechtspfleger/in. The preparation service is completed with the Laufbahnprüfung.
